School Board Advised On State Rental Code

Advice has come to the Sunset School Trustees from Alfred E. Lentz, Administrative Legal Advisor to the Department of Education in Sacramento, concerning rental of school seating equipment to private organizations, and legal rulings on parties by whom the school buildings may be used.

Dated July 25th, it refers to a letter of July 10th sent by Mrs. Helen Levinson asking for information on the matter.

"I do not understand these provisions of law," states Lentz, regarding rental of chairs belonging to the district to private organizations outside the building, "to authorize the rental of seating equipment to a private organization for use elsewhere than in the building in which the seating equipment belongs."

"A rental may be charged for the use of a school district building only under the conditions set forth in School Code section 6,771, as amended in 1933, which reads as follows:

"in the case of entertainment or meeting where admission fees are charged or contributions solicited and the net receipts of such admission fees or contributions are not expended for the welfare of the pupils of the district or for charitable purposes, a charge must be made for the use of said school house, property and grounds.

"The rental charged for a building would include, of course, the necessary seating equipment. Except as specified in the section quoted, no rental may be charged for the use of a school district building.

"Under School Code section 6,750, any lawful organization falling in any one of the classes enumerated is entitled to the use of district school buildings. Any lawful political group may meet in the school. Groups organized for illegal purposes or advocating illegal acts are not entitled to the use of school buildings under the section cited. If any so-called 'communist' group is organized for any illegal purposes or for the purpose of advocating illegal acts, it must be denied the use of the buildings of the district."

Summer Visitors Demand Mayor Thoburn do Miracles

Carmel's own mayor James H. Thoburn is wondering whether Carmel is the village different or whether all village mayors get the wide and wild variety of demands made up on them over and above their real duties of office.

"Can I stop false dandelions from spreading over neighborhood lawns, or can I stop somebody's rooster from crowing at the break of dawn?" he demanded after a busy day of summer house rentals and real estate. "I'm willing to talk city finances day or night, or the problem of a new city hall, or the intricacies of the business license ordinance, or in council meeting to let anybody and everybody have their say, but there are some things that even a Carmel mayor can't take care of."

He meant among other things the heated complaint about the city road crew knocking a bird-nest out of a sidewalk tree, especially when it was declared to have been dislodged by the wind. And again the irate tourist's demand that no more oil be put on the roads because it soiled his white shoes, and also the charge that dogs yelped all night long beside so-and-so's house.

"There are city departments to take care of rational demands, but even the man who dug out the bay couldn't take care of the others," he declared.

They bring speed and parking tags to him for fixing, they cry aloud that women in shorts be banned from the public streets, and they insist that he go down to the beach personally and immediately pick up all the litter. They want him to license dogs, straighten streets, stop noisy house parties and—they even holler for him to drop everything and to come and collect a whole week's garbage.

Part of every citizen's knowledge of the constitution should include an understanding of what a mayor does and doesn't do, and one of the best ways to make a person realize this is to point a finger and solemnly say, "Look out, because you may be mayor yourself someday!"

SCHOOL BOARD REGULAR MEETING NEXT MONDAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Sunset District School Board of Trustees, consisting of Mrs. Daisy Taylor, Mrs. Louis Levinson and E. H. Ewig, chairman, will be held at the Sunset School on Tuesday, August 14th, at 7:45 in the evening.

This meeting will probably bring adoption of an amended budget for the coming year.

Recent visitors at the Del Monte Lodge have been Jean Harlow of the films, accompanied by her mother and step-father, and William Powell, also of motion picture fame. Numerous social affairs were given by peninsula residents in honor of the two film stars.

Rapid Progress Made at Hospital

Rapid progress is being made at the Grace Deere Velie Metabolic Clinic toward enlarging it into what will probably be known as the Monterey Peninsula Community Hospital, the work being under supervision of Guy Koepp, architect.

On the ground floor the east wing will be given to offices and clinical laboratories. The west wing will have a receiving ward, emergency surgery, fracture room, minor surgery, utility room and main surgery, as well as a doctors' dressing room.

In a separate wing there will be included an obstetrical department with delivery room, a utility room and a nursery.

The end of the month should see the work near completion and in the meanwhile Koepp is striving to interfere as little as possible with the services at present being rendered by the hospital as a metabolic center.

NEW POST OFFICE SITE RECEIVING EQUIPMENT

Equipment is rapidly being installed at the new post office to be located in the M. J. Murphy, Inc. building at Ocean Avenue and Mission Street, some of the furnishings coming from the Visalia post-office.

Postmaster Irene Cator will not know definitely about date of opening until arrival of officials next week, nor will it be known what proportion of equipment will be new and what will be supplied from other towns.

While the floor area of the new office will be slightly less than the present office affords, more efficient arrangements will make for facilities better for the public, and postmaster Cator promises that all effort will be bent toward speedy completion of the new project.

SERRA HEADQUARTERS ARE SET UP ON DOLORES STREET

Headquarters for the Serra Fiesta and Pageant have been established by Frank Sheridan in the Leidig Building on Dolores Street near the postoffice, and Mrs. Josephine Durfee will be in attendance for the present between noon and four o'clock. No place could have been more fitting than this one with its murals by prominent Carmel artists depicting noted characters and scenes of the town. Through the generosity of Robert Leidig this office is made available.

Housing, feeding, transportation, tickets to the various events of the five-day celebration and such services will center their activities here, and a competent staff will be on hand to care for the innumerable details in connection with such affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McLaren of San Francisco are in the Phelps cottage for several days.

Automobile Accident Leads to Hearing in Police Court

As a result of an automobile collision at Carmelo and 7th last week, Stephen Allen Reynolds, Carmel editor, author and adventurer, and Miss Molly Gibbons, also of Carmel, will appear before Judge George Wood tomorrow morning.

Miss Gibbons was proceeding north on Carmelo and Reynolds was coming up east on 7th, and the cars met in the middle of the intersection, a spot known to the neighborhood as Calamity Corner and soon to have stop signs installed to reduce the frequency of accidents. Reynolds was hailed into court through action of Miss Gibbons, and he is charged with driving without due caution.

Traffic Officer Charles Guth who was near Calamity Corner at the time will be a witness as will James L. Cockburn who resides nearby and who was but a few feet away from the crash. Neither car was seriously damaged, nor was either occupant injured.

Mrs. J. C. Whitman, district manager for C. C. Young, in his campaign for Governor on the Republican Ticket, has rented a cottage on Santa Lucia for one month.

TAX DATA GIVEN BY DEPUTY COLLECTOR

Deputy Tax Collector Hefling issued from Carmel City hall a statement on delinquent taxes over a number of years and up to July 31st, this year. It shows the steadily mounting sums owed to the city by property owners, although the rise in the last year has not kept its earlier sharp angle.

CARMEL BALL TEAM WINS
GAME FROM LEGION LADS

The Carmel Juniors won another ball game Sunday, this time against the Monterey Sons of the Legion, to the score of 12 to 6. The Hatton Fields Mesa diamond is becoming a Sunday afternoon gathering place for the entire town and the youngsters who carry our colors need not fear a lack of enthusiastic supporters from the interest that is being aroused through their athletic prowess.

Coach "Hussy" Ammerman, who learned baseball in the Tri-State League of the east as catcher and outfielder, says, "We have one of the best young teams in the county, and I'll challenge anybody to show a faster working infield. The only suggestion I have is that the diamond be turned around for next season so that the outfielders don't have the sun in their eyes. For the present series we will take on all-comers, and Carmel may be sure that we'll hold up our end. Come and see the boys do their stuff!"

Mr. Ed Warren and son Charles of Fresno were at La Ribera Hotel for a few days.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING
SET FOR NEXT MONDAY

The city council will meet in adjourned regular session next Monday morning at eleven o'clock, and among other subjects will discuss the $27,000 federal loan-grant offered toward building a new city hall. Mayor James Thoburn has been investigating the grant, which unexpectedly appeared last week from Washington with a request that immediate action be taken upon it and will give his findings in detail.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester J. Barton of Los Angeles are in a cottage on Casanova for a week.

ART ASSOCIATION BOARD TO MEET MONDAY A. M.

Notice has been sent to Carmel Art Association members that there will be a meeting of the directors next Monday morning at ten o'clock, and no doubt will include such matters as the forthcoming new exhibit and a report on the recent membership drive which has brought its roster list up to well over one hundred, including artist members and associates.

CALISTA ROGERS FINAL RECITAL IS TONIGHT

The Song Series by Calista Rogers, soprano, which the Denny-Watrous Gallery has been presenting, closes this evening with a program of modern songs-Debussy, Pozzetti, Schonberg, Hindemith, Ives, Granados and De Falla.

It is a long distance from the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, where Miss Rogers began her Song Series, to the atmospheric, impressionistic vale of Debussy music, and the keyless scale of Schonberg. Tonight's concert will be very exciting, with its variety of types of the modern style.

The Debussy group is of exquisite beauty. Like impressionistic watercolors, the music floats above the singer, as it were, creating the mood of the song. The "Clair de lune," for instance, where dream figures dance and play to each other in the moonlight, according to the words of the song, the music echoing as from a dream.

The Schonberg and Hindemith songs, the only ultra-modern music on the program, last but a minute each, and will be repeated that the audience may have a better opportunity to grasp the difficult, more abstruse Idiom. They are in most interesting contrast to the Debussy and Granados songs.

The Spanish songs, with which the program and Series will conclude, are full of a pulsing rhythm and brilliant color.

Calista Rogers' profound musical sense, with Ralph Linsley, best of accompanists, at the piano, make of this recital a rare musical treat. The full program follows:

Chevaux de bois, Priere a Notre Dame, Mandoline, Clair de lune, Ballade des Femmes de Paris, Debussy.

Passegiate, I pastori, San Basilio, Pizzetti.

Jedem Werke bin ich furer Tod, Als Neuling, Schonberg.

Verkündigung, Hindemith.

The White Gulls, Anne St., The Swimmers, Ives.

Cantares, Turina.

El mirar de la maja, Mananica era, Granados.

Carazon, porque pasais, Obradors. Seguidille, Falla.

SPECIAL TRAINS TO RUN FOR THE SERRA MATINEE

So great is the interest in the forthcoming Serra Fiesta and Pageant that the Southern Pacific railroad company has requested a special Sunday matinee, August the 26th, and trains will be run to Monterey to accommodate the spectators of this performance of "The Apostle of California."

A feature will be the luncheon which will be served in the Mission grounds to care for the throng, and the committee on arrangements announces that upward to a thousand will be served. This, in connection with the twenty eating places in connection with the places in Carmel will amply care for the guests who will come by train and motor to attend the day's many activities.

SCHOOL DISTRICT TAX NOT TO BE INCREASED

The Sunset School District Board of Trustees in a meeting Wednesday night approved figures of the proposed budget for Sunset School 1934-35 which will keep the tax rate at its present level of 27c per each $100 of assessed valuation. The total budget will amount to $31,700.

Apportionments from State and County, including cash balance from last year's fund, equals $18,356.77, meaning in round figures a difference of $13,344, without the undistributed reserve.

Main items under Regular Expense, including Administration and Instruction, will amount to $23,250; Library, $250; Operation of Plant, $4,500; Maintenance of Plant, $800; Auxiliary Agencies, $2,700.

These figures represent some $710 less than the budget as originally planned, but these savings were effected through final consideration of economies in the needed outlays.

Mrs. H. L. Watson and her youngest daughter Elizabeth, have of late been absent from their Carmel home while taking a short vacation at the Tassajara Hot Springs.

Kuster Show Brings Fame to Local Stage

by Hal Garrott

Last Friday a goodly audience in the Playhouse on Monte Verde sat spell bound during Maurice Browne's long one-act play "The Mother of Gregory," produced by the Golden Bough Players and directed by Edward Kuster, who played an exacting role.

This classic ballad play of long ago was presented with rare beauty and poetic intensity. So impressed were the audience, the memory of this performance is bound to linger with them in the years to come, marking an outstanding achievement of our local stage.

Setting, lighting, costumes, and off stage sound effects contributed enormously to the tragic mood of the piece, providing sympathetic and historic atmosphere for Georgia Wapple's portrayal of Mother Gregory, one of the finest pieces of acting, amateur or professional this reviewer has seen. A long, grim role that threatened to sag into monotony was vitalized by Georgia Wapple throughout. Into the gabbling of an old witch she breathed thrilling climaxes punctuated by breath taking pauses and crooning lullabies.

Betty Meyers as Annie of Lochroyan, Evert Sholund as Lord Gregory, and Edward Kuster as Michael gave flawless performances. If there was a false note in this production anywhere, this critic failed to sense it.

PLAYHOUSE OFFERS GAY COMEDY THIS WEEKEND

A masterpiece of modern comedy by Spain's foremost dramatists, the brothers Quintero, in a superb English translation by Granville Barker, will open tonight at the Playhouse, Monte Verde near 8th, continuing tomorrow night and next weekend. "The Women Have Their Way" is the title, and Edward Kuster, who has successfully adapted and produced locally a number of outstanding European plays, is directing. The story is that of a sort of "Petticoat Town" in provincial Spain, where Dame Gossip is queen and a visiting young lawyer from Madrid is manoeuvred into a betrothal with a delectable senorita notwithstanding the heroic efforts of both the young people to avoid even a meeting with each other. The comedy is gay, swift and colorful, full of charming people and delightful music, a fitting prelude to the Serra Festival soon to follow.

Most of the favorites of "Counsellor-at-Law" and "The Mother of Gregory" are in the cast. Barbara Collins, delightful as the telephone girl in "Counsellor-at-Law," plays a middle-aged village busybody; Frank Hefflin and Charles Kilian play important roles; Georgia Wapple, the star of "The Mother of Gregory," has a refreshing comedy part. Faces new to Carmel's audiences are those of Mary Lile, Frances Baker and Onyet Watson, of Watsonville, Monterey and Fresno respectively, all accomplished and charming young players. William Lingley, the excellent "Mr. Tedesco" of "Counsellor-at-Law," is again a lawyer, this time in the hero's role. The cast numbers fifteen. Delightful Spanish music will be played. William Gasikin is again in charge of the settings.

"The Women Have Their Way" is the third and last of the Kuster summer productions with the Golden Bough group, which concludes its eleventh annual season with this play.

Tickets are on sale daily, in the Court of the Golden Bough, in front of the Carmel motion picture theatre.

FIVE BEAUTIFUL BACKS WANTED FOR 'DUMB WIFE'

The five most beautiful backs on the Peninsula are needed at once by the Forest Theatre for "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife" which is now in rehearsal for August 16 to 18 production, in Carmel. No stage experience necessary. No rehearsals. Just beautiful backs and shoulders to match. Age limit, 22.

Apply to Herbert Heron, Seven Arts building, Ocean and Lincoln, Carmel, in the afternoons. And there's the rub! Who was to pick the five perfect backs? And, in fact, how could the august body of the Board of Governors of the Forest Theatre ethically make it known that said five perfect backs were needed.

"This is a dangerous matter," warned Herbert Heron. "People will think 'The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife' is a sort of Ziegfeld Folly show. And that can not be. It is a beautifully artistic production, for of course the great master Anatole France could do nothing cheap or tawdry."

"And I, too, am quite against advertising for beautiful backs," warmly echoed the new president of the Board of Governors, Rachel Hiller. "Such publicity is so gauche, er-er a la Broadway, don't you know?"

"But we must have those beautiful backs," stubbornly asserted Eugene Watson, "and you can't get them by whispering down a well. We simply must make a public appeal."

Decision. "The Dumb Wife" is to have the five most beautiful backs and shoulders on the Peninsula, and Herbert Heron is to do the choosing. Officers Englund and Guth are to keep the candidates in line at the Seven Arts building and the inquisitive public at a proper distance. And oh yes, the public has a mistaken idea about this wife. She is by no means as dumb in the sense she is a dumb-bell. She is dumb, speechless until a famous surgeon finds her tongue for her. And then she is spluttering, devastating fireworks to the man who married her. How he outwits his wife and the surgeon is the unique climax.

BEAUTY CONTEST FOR GIRLS IN SHORTS

The Beauty Contest for Girls in Shorts to be held at the Carmel Community Fair, August 31 and September 1, is attracting attention beyond the borders of the Peninsula. Two internationally famous artists will act as judges and award the prizes. Contestants from every country in the world will be permitted to register.

Leota Tucker art photographer, will conduct a popular priced photograph gallery. Big African Game Hunter Henry F. Dickinson will loan a stuffed lion for the use of patrons, who wish to be snapped pointing a rifle at the head of the king of beasts. Those who prefer may sit in a saddle on the lion's back. A side saddle will be provided for ladies.

Other attractions at Carmel's biggest and greatest fair will include a shooting gallery, an old fashioned German beer garden, dancing, a concert by the popular Presidio band, Cowboy roping, riding, and the popular cowboy chorus led by California Andrews. Dinner will be served on the grounds. Betty Green's riding ponies will be available. There will be a cat and dog show, dog races, a fish pond, pop corn and candy improving the Forest Theater booths, a flower show, an auction grounds with tennis courts, pay-off of paintings and other works of art by celebrated resident artists, nancing theatrical productions. a Carmel Valley exhibit of farm products. Vaudeville acts will include Billie McConnell and her troupe, Allen Knight and his company, and other local favorites plus a few not so local.

Of course there will be a Midway where one may see a fan dance equal to Sally Rand's, a fat woman and a skeleton man, and, oh boy! an Artist's Life Class with living models. The steam Calliope of the Ringling Circus is said to be on its way here from Baraboo, Wisconsin, and the American Legion Drum Corps will participate in the street parade.

The proceeds of this greatest of all Carmel fairs will be devoted to

SERRA FIESTA PUBLICITY WILL ATTRACT THOUSANDS

Carmel is going to hear more about itself from now until August 28th, when the Serra Fiesta and Pageant at Carmel Mission concludes its five day run, than ever before in its history. And for once Carmel is glad to be publicized, despite its reputation for not wanting to be in print.

Largely due to efforts of Tom Thienes, eastern newspaperman who has been a resident here for nearly four years, a most ambitious program is swinging into full stride with national scope. Principal advertising will naturally center on the Pacific Coast, and all mediums of reaching people will be used.

The San Francisco newspapers have been running pictures and occasional articles for months, and on the 19th the Sunday feature Magazine of the Chronicle will run a full page, and the rotogravure section will have a page. The Examiner on the same day will have a full page illustrated Travelogue. Fifty-five dailies and two hundred and fifty weeklies in this territory will carry ten daily releases, giving blanket coverage from now on.

Radio will include a half hour in the California On Parade program of the Shell Touring Service over KPO August 15th, 8:00 to 8:30 p. m., then the coast hookup of N. B. C. over KFI and KGO on Monday, August 20th, between 8:00 and 9:00 p. m. The Sherman-Clay program over KYA between 12 and 1:00 p. m. daily will give three minutes to the Fiesta daily from August 17th to 28th.

The July Motorland will carry illustrations of the event, and the August copy will have its cover picturing the Mission in two colors; each copy will circulate about 65,000, and represents the California State Auto Club. In the California Journal of Development, circulating among 6,000 service, fraternal and political groups, the August number will likewise feature us.

In commercial bulletins the Standard Oil will circulate its August Carmel copy among 90,000 readers, and an illustrated pamphlet will reach 25,000 motorists on the San Francisco Bay Auto ferryboats. 4,000 Shell Service Stations on the coast will have their News Bulletin, and the Associated Oil Company will provide 1,000 auto bumper strips and 2,000 windshield labels, as well as lending its automobile public address loudspeaker.

Combined with the foregoing will be miscellaneous news stories in the daily press, and Thienes estimates that a circulation of at least 4,000,000 will be attained by newspapers carrying Fiesta publicity. Together with his other endeavors, he has addressed the Manzanita and Business Assn., of Carmel, the Monterey Chamber of Commerce, Jr. Chamber of Commerce and Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, as well as the State Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco.

An attractive leaflet with Jo Mora illustrations is also a product of his.

Among posters already on the streets are those of Carmel itself, using a black and yellow woodcut by Joe Schoeninger, a Southern Pacific Company poster for all depots and ferries in California, and the Telephone Company poster to be displayed in every phone office in the state and a surplus to be put up in all peninsula store windows.

Transportation has received careful attention. The Bay Rapid Transit Company will schedule 12 passenger buses with total capacity of 350 persons, with fare from Monterey to the Mission 40c a round trip. Continuous service from middle of Carmel to the Mission will be maintained, with a charge of 10c one way and 15c for a round trip.

Among the many San Franciscans who have been vacationing in Carmel are Mary Sullivan and Rose Juster who recently returned to the city after a weeks stay in Carmel.

Fra Junipero

In the last installment of our letter from Father Serra written in 1772 in Carmel, to Father Francisco Palou, presidente of the missions for Lower California the willingly undertaken hardships of priests at the California Missions were outlined, with a request for two replacement to fill gaps made by sickness.

"Try to see to it that those who are to come," writes Serra, "are well provided with patience and charity, and in that case they will have a joyous time and will here become very rich. I say rich in hardships: but then, whither goes the ox that does not the plow? And if he does not plow, how can there be harvest?"

"During my absence Father Pieras, with one of the Fathers from San Luis Obispo, will take charge of the administration of the Mission and another one will go to San Antonio, where Father Buenaventura Sitjar has been left alone, in order that he may be so much nearer the place in which he is to begin his Mission. The Mission of San Antonio which, on San Buenaventura's day, celebrated its first anniversary, has been suffering the lack of the necessities of life and has had recourse entirely to the grains harvested by the pagans and to the native cornmeal. "This Mission owes the good Fr.

Pieras the charity of more than four mule-loads of provisions of this sort, as on his last visit to me he brought me three. From Fr. Juan Crespi I send you no word because from his letters you will know all about his trip; in short, I will not write further; if we see each other, we can talk it all over with the favor of God; and if not, I hope I can write again more at length."

The tireless Serra was then full in the midst of his work which was to become so important in California's civilization, and his letter reflects the indomitable spirit necessary to carry on under trying conditions. This spirit is fully portrayed in dramatic scenes of "The Apostle of California," the pageant drama written, directed and enacted by George Marion, veteran Carmelite with national reputation in the drama. The amphitheatre will be within the Carmel Mission grounds, and each night from August 24th to the 28th it will be presented by a cast of well over one hundred actors.

Miraculous Performance of Monterey Peninsula Orchestra

by Hal Garrott

The performance of the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra Tuesday night in Sunset Auditorium, thrilled a large audience till it shouted "bravo" and recalled the players again and again. This organization has progressed far beyond its triumph of last summer. For the first time the orchestra has a complete brass choir and tympani.

The first, second and fourth movements of the Mendelssohn "Italian" Symphony were especially well played. It is difficult to believe a miscellaneous body of amateurs of both sexes and all ages and degrees of musical skill can be moulded into any sort of unity. But the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra has achieved more than mere unity. There was delicate shading, carefully graded crescendos, spirited climaxes that brought the audience to the edge of their seats.

It is the closest this town has come to working a miracle. The miracle really was Michel Penha's conducting. When the baton's in his hand there's not a dull moment. The players are vitalized and literally driven to dashing climaxes, or coaxed to lyric beauty of phrasing and colorful contrast.

Perhaps the greatest applause was bestowed upon the Mozart double concerto played by Theodore Norman, violin, and Abraham Weiss, viola, accompanied by the strings. This work was exquisitely performed. The soloists balanced each other and played together with such precision and sympathetic understanding, their numerous recalls were well deserved.

The program ended with a stirring performance of Massenet's "Phedre" Overture. In conducting this number Michel Penha fairly tore his hair and pounded his stand, figuratively beating his players into a musical frenzy that moved the great audience to its depths.

Carmel's new A Cappella Chorus was given a try-out before the intermission with four numbers, and won a hearty encore. The singers went on bravely and did their best. No doubt their performance was remarkable considering their few rehearsals. The audience enjoyed it. But in my (very) humble opinion this group is not yet ready for a public appearance with so expert a body as the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra. A piano concerto played by one of the Peninsula's resident concert pianists would have harmonized better with this otherwise excellent program.

Two New York grammar school teachers found Sunset Auditorium "most attractive" and wondered how it had escaped vandalism. "If this beautiful hall were in our school," said they, "the children would have had the arms off the seats, the walls would be marred by writing and windows broken." Carmelites expressing a desire to "tear down" Sunset Auditorium must have been educated in this type of school.

FLORENCE LOCKE RECITAL, DENNY-WATROUS GALLERY

An attraction of unique interest is the coming of Florence Locke, dramatic interpreter, to the Denny-Watrous Gallery on Saturday evening, August 18. Florence Locke has won wide recognition in England and throughout America for "handing down" the Ellen Terry tradition in her interpretation of Shakespeare's Women.

On May 25th, at Stratford-on-Avon, on the occasion of the presentation of the Ellen Terry death mask and cast to the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Florence Locke was asked to give her reading called "Shakespeare's Triumphant Women," of which the Eversham Journal wrote, "Miss Locke's recital of Dame Terry's Triumphant Women, was a magnificent exposition . . . ."

It is this same "Shakespeare's Triumphant Women" pageant recital that Florence Locke is to give in the Gallery on Saturday evening the eighteenth. In authentic Ellen Terry costume of Rosalind, Beatrice, Portia or Celia, her golden voice and gifts of regal power, humor and charm, she will relive the pageantry of Shakespeare.

COSTUMED CARAVAN TO BE IN PERIOD OF '49

All of Carmel is expected to join the Mission Trails Caravan in the parade Sunday morning, August 26th, which will form at the city park on Ocean Avenue at ten o'clock and proceed to the Mission after winding through town.

The cavalcade will be in the period of '49, and many a cupboard and basement is being searched for appropriate costumes that will include miners, vaqueros, señoritas, trappers, emigrants and seafarers of those early days.

At the Mission a special Pontifical high mass will be celebrated by the Most Rev. Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, D. D., of San Francisco, assisted by deacons and subdeacons, and benches will be removed in order to accommodate the great number of worshippers. Thus will services be held in the continental manner, and add another distinctive touch to the important day.

DE NEALE MORGAN EXHIBIT DENNY-WATROUS GALLERY

Forty small, brilliantly colored paintings done in tempera, moderately priced, the work of the famous California painter, De Neale Morgan, will be shown in the Denny-Watrous Gallery, beginning Monday, August 13. Miss Morgan will be present on the opening day, from two to five in the afternoon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, August 12, on the subject "Spirit."

The Golden Text will be: "This is the word of the Lord unto Zerubbable, saying, Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (Zechariah 4: 6). Bible selection will include the following passage from John 6: 68, "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included which reads as follows: "Spirit is the only substance and consciousness recognized by divine Science . . . . In Spirit there is no matter, even as in truth there is no error and in good no evil. It is a false supposition, the notion that there is real substance-matter, the opposite of Spirit. Spirit, God, is infinite, all. Spirit can have no opposite" (p. 278).

RAILROAD OFFERS LOW RATES FOR THE FIESTA
Another evidence of cooperation to make the Serra Fiesta and Pageant a success is the announcement of a special round trip rate by the Southern Pacific railroad of $2.50 from San Francisco to Monterey and return, being in effect Thursday, the 24th and lasting until Tuesday, the 28th.

Mrs. Susan K. Hoffman of Berkeley is in Carmel for the month of August.

Study of Jeffers Is Shown in New Book

A serious analysis of Carmel's Number One Poet always demands wide attention, and another comes to hand entitled "Robinson Jeffers, The Man and His Work," by Lawrence Clark Powell. It is published by the Primavera Press, of Los Angeles, and at a list price of $3.50 it runs 215 pages, plus index, and strips Mr. Jeffers down to his word-wrestling shorts so that the reader watches him in every minute phase of his battle.

"My object," says the intent young author, "has been to give an account of the work of the poet—to understand his intentions, describe his methods, and to point out his achievements. I believe the man to be a great poet: this study advances some reasons for my belief."

Jeffers himself writes a foreword. In it he expresses mild concern that anyone should think his themes out of the ordinary. Citing the great Greek and Elizabethan tragedies he says, "These relationships are always unhappy and often vicious, not because the poets prefer vice and sorrow, but because happiness makes no story, and but calm emotion. . . . Do you wonder that I feel bewildered when people speak of the themes of my verses as if they were strange, or peculiarly personal? They have not even the distinction of being unusual."

Powell visited Carmel to study Jeffers at close range, and in the chapter one, "Jeffers of Carmel," he ingratiates himself with Carmelites by the mirror-paragraph, "Sunday before Labor Day, the beach swarming with unreligious sun-worshippers, and merry-makers crawled and clung on the rocks, trailing litter behind them. From the obscure hamlet he found it in 1914, Jeffers has seen Carmel grow to be an 'art colony' with its crew of pseudo-artists and hangers-on, love-nests, gas-stations and the poisonous gossip of idle women."

He ends the chapter, by contrast, with, "A tranquil, tolerant, slow-moving giant, he is one of the calmest, kindest, wisest men I have ever met. . . . Jeffers of Carmel." For exactitude, he might have made it Carmel Point, but poetic license allows such geographic errors.

In the succeeding eight chapters he goes through "Volumes and Poet's Land," "The Lyrics," "Some contents," "The Narratives," "Elements of Style," "A Poet's Universe," "Jeffersian Values," and "Critical Conclusions," followed by a Bibliography.

In one chapter ending, he sums "Robinson Jeffers' poetry has originality of style partly because of three reasons: the prosodical system by which it is written; its distinctive words, phrases, construction and figures of speech; and by virtue of the visual, animating cosmic qualities of the poet's imagination."

At the end of the book he realizes his all-absorbed attitude toward so magnetic a figure in the literary world, and says "Doubtless I have been led by unconscious biases to slight much that should have been emphasized and to dwell on what might better have gone unsaid. If this introduction should lead anyone to fuller enjoyment of a rich collection of verse, then it will have done more than merely added to its writer's pleasure."

"Robinson Jeffers has builded several monuments that will carry his name on I do not know how many centuries. Those men of the future will be thankful to this builder who has left precious gifts: flesh and blood for some to love, trees for shelter and shade, granite for endurance, poems with a measure of peace for man's pain."

There are decorations by Rockwell Kent, an Edward Weston portrait as a frontispiece, several snapshots of Jeffers and family at home, facsimiles of title-pages of early books and a pen map of the Carmel Coast showing the settings of Jeffers' narratives, with descriptive lines on outstanding events taking place at each spot.

This book in plain brown cloth covers, jacketed in burnt sienna paper, will doubtless be soundly wel-

IS THAT SO?

By Winsor Josselyn

We have given up signing petitions. After the thousands that have passed under our hand, not one has yielded a pen worth stealing.

Austin James, sculptor, reports one lamentable effect of the recent general strike. "Who," he asked, "would think that so innocent a thing as art would be touched by upset labor conditions? I sent a bust to the bronze works in Brooklyn, expecting it back on a certain day. That day has gone several times over. I am a victim of the strike and I don't like it."

Secrets will out. At last it has been discovered how clothes cleaners are able to get spots out of suits so quickly and completely nowadays.

Ever own a suit of white flannel? Ever notice how it could attract spots even though it never touched anything? Well, it has what is known as "spot magnetism" that recently has been identified by scientists and more recently adopted by cleaning establishments.

The cleaner's method is to hang a spotless suit of white flannel in a tank together with a number of soiled garments. When the clothes are removed, it will be found that all spots have been attracted by the flannels and that the other clothes are perfectly clean.

He couldn't have thought it up himself. But William Deems, the philosopher, the other day obsercomed by the poet's ever-growing world of readers, and will stand as the first exhaustive physical and chemical examination of the man and his work.—W. J.

ved that there are states where a lady has been defined as a woman who refrains from chewing tobacco in front of people, or shooting any strangers other than her husband.

It is not true that Carmelites get half the fine of motorists they catch driving down the wrong side of Ocean Avenue. It is just an old custom to holler for the cops when strangers do this in summer, and you can always tell a veteran by the joyous way that he takes up the cry whenever it happens.

Florence Brown of Piedmont who has been the houseguest of Jean Leidig on Dolores, recently departed after a visit of several weeks. Miss Brown, who is a former resident of Carmel, plans to enter the University of California in the fall.

The Sierra Quarry

WHICH SUPPLIED THE FINEST ROCK OBTAINABLE FOR YOUR BUILDING.

The Sierra Quarry, which supplies the Carmel Building Stone Company of Carmel with "chalk rock" is located, five miles up the Carmel Valley and is owned and operated by H. E. Rogers. In the quarry is a ledge of hard durable rocks which does not shale or crack, and this is used for houses, fireplaces, walls and stepping stones. It is guaranteed by the company.

According to Geologists, this rock formation is from 25 to 50 million years old. Many of the slabs are watermarked in beautiful patterns and they make unusual and distinctive table tops and mantle pieces.

There are many types of building stone, some good, some bad. The good stone lasts indefinitely.

Mr. Rogers has some interesting specimens of animal life in the fossils which have been found in the quarry. Antelope bones were discovered there in a fossil at one time. Mr. Rogers lives on San Carlos between Ocean and 7th. The phone is Carmel 16.

CHEW DANCE RECITAL IS A BIG SUCCESS by Hal Garrott

applauded every number with enthusiasm. Miss Chew's costumes were exquisite, ranging from colorful Asiatic attire to full skirts and puffed sleeves for the Minuet, and peasant dress for the Corcovado.

As an artist Miss Chew is especially effective in Oriental dances. There was the stern virility and dash of the warrior in the sword swinging numbers that opened and closed the program. Tenderness and charm found their way to the audience through repressions native to the Oriental woman, in Chinese, Javanese, Cambodian and Japanese pieces. The artist scored in Dynamic, a Nature dance, in which she seemed tossed about like a wind swept cloud.

Either the European numbers were too foreign for a Chinese to negotiate, or Miss Chew lacked imagination and creativeness to span so vast a racial gap. The Minuet, however, was an exception, probably because its formalities and conventions lie closer to the Oriental temperament. For gorgeous color and shimmering tinsel Miss Chew's "Chinese Actor" could hardly be surpassed.

All in all, the recital proved highly enjoyable. Although not marked by genius, the performance was distinguished by rare talent.

terly entrancing, and the weeds there are as tenderly nurtured as any of the rare flowers.

Mr. Hagemeyer, who is a Philosopher as well as an internationally famous artist in photographic portraits, evidently decided that it was not for him to separate the sheep from the goats, and doubtless believes that it is best to live and let live.

And there is beauty in those weeds.

Wine, Women and Song can have a curious effect. Anyone who happened to be in the Tap-room at Del Monte late last Saturday night will attest to this. I may not know much about the wine, but certainly the ladies were lovely, and as to the song, well—a very small crowd of three began to sing quite softly something about a "Bear Dashing Over a Mountain." Immediately a most astonishing thing occurred.

Many people crept up close to the singers. They joined in the song. Perfect harmony, also of spirit, because total strangers became PALS. It was as if they were all life long friends. It was beautiful. It seemed cruel and heartless that the things had to stop at all—but Del Monte eventually closed, and I went home with renewed faith in Humanity.

I hope all the people remembered that they were to meet again on Sunday on the beach in Carmel.

And I do wish I knew what that Bear had expected to see anyway.

The Gold Fish Bowl by Dorothy Brooke

The Yellow Bowl on Ocean Avenue is a veritable pot pourri. Here are flowers in miniature. English snow-drops, Dutch tulips, pansies in low bowls, a rose with her petals opening—artistic bouquets of beautiful colors.

You may watch Florence Terry fashion these flowers, which give her such pleasure. She reminds me of Mimi in La Boheme, who so tenderly cherished the flowers that she made, and was so sad at times, because—alas, they had had no perfume.

An hour in the Private Life of Barbara Collins, who superbly played the telephone operator in "Counselor-at-Law."

Calling on her early one afternoon we noted the following, profusion of flowers—then a delicious odour of frying eggs.

Into the kitchen, and here were Dewey Clough and Tommy Tooker gracefully adding to the picture.

Tommy gulping huge slices of toast spread thickly with strawberry jam. Dewey looking quite irritable with that bronze complexion. I asked which might be her true love, and Tommy said he supposed he'd better throw up the glove and leave an open field to Clough. On second thought, said he'd never concede anything to Clough.

Reluctantly I had to leave this delightful company, quite dazed, for, as the door opened for my exit, three more young Greek Gods stumbled over your bewildered Gold Fish.

Went to call on Johann Hagemeyer, and was very disappointed to find him out. His garden is ut-

People Talked About

FRANK SHERIDAN is in receipt of a letter from the Pasadena Community Playhouse inviting him to attend the revival of "Payed in Full" as a guest of the management in their attempt to have all living members of the original company, as well as the author, in the house the same evening.

"Mr. Walter is to be here, and Mrs. MacGregor and Miss Albertson of the original cast," it states, have accepted invitations to attend, and, of course, we should feel honored also to have you present. We're now making efforts to reach Tully Marshal and Johnny Arthur and others.

"This will indeed be a rare thing after the lapse of so many years—to have not only the author but every living original player of such an important drama."

Unfortunately Frank was unable to accept because of illness in the family.

THE PALMIST of the Sierras, John Hastey is here again, walking in just as he went away at the end of last season. He loves the out of doors and doesn't worry if night comes before he finds a roof. You have probably seen him, neat and ruddy faced, dressed in tweeds and tennis shoes, strolling about the village. He will read your palm on a street corner and make the future look bright. You will be sure to have money at thirty or sometime in the future. If you haven't traveled to foreign lands, you will.

On the palmist's first entrance, to Carmel, which was the year after the war, he must have been a picturesque figure. His hair was very long and he rode into town on a horse, all the way from Yosemite. He owns a home back in that country someplace.

TWO local photographers have received honors in San Francisco. One of Nocha Bravo's

WEATHER FORECAST—A WARM ELLA WINTER

An editorial from the Pacific Rural Press Aug 4.—John E. Pickett, Editor.

Those who carefully investigate communism will surely be fearful of its menace to most of the things we hold dear, but successfully dealing with communism requires a sense of humor as often as it calls for a club.

And if anti-communist leaders will just remember that communism sounds better than it smells, meaning that it is more glamorous in the distance than it is on contact, and if they will have a sense of humor as well as civic righteousness in dealing with it, and give the public a fair and uncolored picture of what communism would mean to them—in other words the true smell of communism—then surely communism will give us less trouble.

Carmel is supposed to be quite liberal and hard to shock but the unmuzzled Ella Winter, divorced wife of Lincoln Steffens, and an ardent radical, has gotten some of the fathers and mothers of the town by the sea into the frame of mind where they would like to decorate Ella with some unemployed feathers, accompanied by an adhesive, but reflecting that communism thrives on martyrs, they give her more rope.

Ella took out naturalization papers, 'tis said, before being divorced from Steffens, so she is deportation-proof until we change our laws. But a little publicity might do some good.

Part of the charge against Ella is that she makes pinks out of children of the town. Another charge is that she is the somewhat un-strict mother of the somewhat unrestrained ten-year-old Pete Steffens. When people refer to Young Pete as a town pest, they want to give his mother some of the honor, we understand.

One of the stories about Pete is that he does not always use the sanitary facilities of the school, but instead resorts to the side of the building.

It is said that an approach was made to Lincoln Steffens to enlist the father's aid in having Pete observe the conventional sanitation methods, but that Steffens retorted he would not interfere with the self-expression of the boy.

Self expression may be depended upon in some cases to become over-expression.

There is an interesting story about the Vigilantes of Berkeley who recently inscribed some fifty bricks to communists; sent in riot calls to get the police out of the way; and at an agreed minute heaved the bricks at the porches of the communists, showing remarkable facility in missing the porches and hitting windows.

One communist, it seems, had moved just a few days previously, and the brick more or less landed in the lap of a Vigilante who had

ETCHINGUnder the dusk-blue
Curving of sky,
The tall trees whisper
A lullaby—Whisper it softly,
Slow, like a hymn,
Crooning the moon's lift
Over the rim.And, night, grown silver,
Its young moon bright,
Captures the sky-flung
Fragments of light.Matching its silver
With moonlight weaves,
With shadows and lights,
And poplar leaves.

—V. James Chrasta

SIERRA NIGHTLost winds that rise from earth in savage flight,
Lifting dead sorrows to the indifferent sky,
Assail the sheer obsidian cliffs of night
With rhythms to measure space and stillness by.Sprung from the rigid womb, the inner cave,
Rock cadences and crystal echoes stir
The sleeping forest; wave on strident wave
Unwinds a coil of surf from fir to fir.Thick with the scent of pine and chinquapin,
From grove and thicket the vast strophes soar
And vanish to an evanescent, thin—Vibration at the palest star's tight core.
—Winifred Gray Stewart.BELLS OF THE SHWE DAGON TEMPLE*(RANGOON)The day is dying, bruised and crushed, and light
Is fading; ghosts of blossoms linger, haunt
The memories like butterflies that flaunt
Their wings upon the breeze. The hurried flight
Of birds divides the sky, and sweeps the blight
Of day from seeing eyes. The gods will taunt
The senses while the yellow fan will vaunt
Her eerie beauty down the seething night.
Above the city gates the wind-bells guard
The temple's awesome majesty; a breeze
Awakens, curls its fingers, trembling tips
Of palm leaves left to die. The steps discard
Their shadowed cloak; below, the sultry seas
Of green and black are kissed by golden lips.

—James Neill Northe.

succeeded him as tenant.

The Vigilante was "fit to be tied" for a few minutes, but a sense of humor came to his rescue, and he re-wrapped the brick and carried it to the home of the communist to whom it was inscribed, handing it over with a smile.

The communist erupted in self-expression, saying some of the inflammatory things which all communists are supposed to have in their hearts, and the Vigilante reported his words to the police who arrested and jailed the communist.

It may be that everything has its uses, including flies, fleas and self-expression.

THE ART GALLERY SIDEWALK

Carmel has a most attractive art gallery close to the center of town, being but a block and a half north of Ocean Avenue on Dolores Street. For motorists there is no difficulty in driving up to the broad sidewalk in front of it, but for pedestrians walking up from the Avenue it is something of an adventure.

To begin with, Dolores Street from the Avenue to 6th has no sidewalk except on the map, being both too sandy for good footing as well as being littered with packing boxes and obstructed by parked automobiles. From there on the sidewalks are ankle deep with loose earth, and while the street surface is good, not all pedestrians are agile enough to dodge the traffic.

If the city cannot find a way to install a decent walk on at least one side of the street, let the fronting property owners have pride enough to do a little work and make their portions of the walk passable. With the multitude of visitors coming here later in the month, this improvement should have action taken upon it at once.

SERRA DAY

Observation of the sesquicentennial of Serra's death on Tuesday, August 28th, will take official form in a proclamation signed by Governor Frank Merriam through the good offices of our own Senator E. H. Tickle, of Carmel Highlands, and facsimiles of this proclamation will make an outstanding souvenir of the Carmel Serra Fiesta and Pageant.

Climaxing the five days and nights of celebration, this day should mark an annual event for which Carmel will gain statewide recognition, and the affair will mark another milestone in California in California's colorful history.

It is Carmel's good fortune to be a connecting link between yesterday and today, both in tradition and in the presence of the Mission itself as a tangible landmark. From time to time in the past there has been an observation of Serra's heritage to us, and now it seems that lasting recognition will occur every year to give us a permanent place on the historic calendar of western celebrations.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

DR. GENE KENNEY, of Oakland, now realizes that Carmel is no haven of rest if a person comes down here with a friend in an airplane. Last weekend the doctor arrived with Mark Keller, well known on the peninsula as one-time manager of the Golden State Theatre, in the latter's small monoplane.

Next morning the telephone rang and it was a Oakland patient needing immediate attention. The doctor and Keller grabbed a mouthful of breakfast and were in Oakland scarcely an hour later, but by that time his assistant had everything under control and back came the would-be vacation fliers. That evening they winged back home, thus completing one of the first three-trips-a-day-by-air junkets the town has known.

Next time you see Bill Beckett, ask him about his flighty house guests.

CARMEL'S steadily growing crop of inventors has turned out another product to ease the work of the world, this time to gladden the hearts of fishermen.

Sam Miller, local contractor and Walter Robbins, driving for Carmel people, have devised a new fish hook and applied for patent upon it. It is without a barb, but has a protection attached to the shank so that the fish is locked on the hook and yet does not have to be touched to remove it. This should appeal especially to women anglers who never seem to enjoy seizing a fish and forcibly taking it from the hook.

THE famous Carmel Abalone League has become so much a part of town life that it is looked upon almost as a living person, and as such deserves a place in this section.

Recently the Monterey Herald had a timely editorial bearing on the League and we make so bold as to copy M. T. L.'s words in the News Comments.

"Monterey Peninsula, place of many 'first' things in California, is also the birthplace of a type of baseball which is sweeping the state and nation. Soft-ball of the variety played under lights in Pacific Grove and in daylight in the Abalone and Toro leagues is referred to.

"The real pioneers were the Abalone leaguers who turned out on Sunday afternoons years and years ago to play their queer game, with a large ball and small bat, much to the amusement of the casual spectator. It was a good game, however, and good games spread.

A few year's rolled by and Monterey's Toro league came into existence, a bigger organization and playing a somewhat faster game.

Later still, Pacific Grove joined the ranks of converts and now has the finest park, largest following and the biggest league of the lot.

"Meanwhile the game has been spreading from town to town until in the large centers, such as San Jose and Stockton, thousands of fans and armies of ball players are active almost every night in the year."

The Abalone League was begun shortly after the war by Charles Van Riper and Thorne Taylor, joined shortly afterward by many hardy athletes who still survive to tell of the perils and glories of the sidehill diamond on Carmel Point, long since covered with residences.

Many a famous name appeared on the roster through the intervening years, and while reckless youth was still upon the members they would rally to the battle cry of "You name the game and we'll win it!" and this applied even to football. The history of the League is a colorful chapter in Carmel tradition, and it is hoped that next year the League may be revived from its slumber brought on by the departure of Charles Van Riper for New York through business needs.

Hal Barnett of Stockton is again visiting Carmel, having been here for quite a long time last summer. He is a guest at Pine Inn.

Mrs. Robert Ridley of San Francisco joined also is at the present occupying the Harlan home in the Monterey Country Club area. She is joined over the week ends by her family dog which he just taken to Puget Sound.

Mrs. Edgar M. Mack and Martha Mack of McKeesport, Penn. have been the recent guests of the La Playa Hotel.

Mrs. Joseph Brucia and her daughter Mary, of San Francisco, have taken a cottage on Lincoln for a short vacation in Carmel.

Newspaper man, of the Hollywood Citizen News, Floyd Simon-ton and his wife Margaret Simon-ton, who is a Los Angeles attorney associated with Judge Carlos Hardy, on vacation here this week visited Wilbur C. Riley who is stopping at Rancho Carmelo. Mr. Simon-ton, a breeder of cocker spaniels, is the owner of Marshland Marjorie Behneman, young daughter of Dr. H. M. F. Behneman, of San Francisco, is a house guest of Miss Barbara Josselyn, of Carmelo and Santa Lucia Streets.

HERE ON CANDIDACY

Former Governor C. C. Young will be in Carmel next Monday afternoon, August 13th, and at 4:55 o'clock will make a short address from his car to be parked on Mission Street opposite the city park. He is on an informal tour of San Mateo, Santa Clara and Monterey Counties, in behalf of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor at the primary election, August 28th. His tour is arousing much interest, and his itinerary will include full coverage of the state.

His discussions of the upset financial condition of the state have impressed voters with his logic and command of figures, and he points out that instead of the present heavy deficit, he left the state after his term ending January, 1931 with $31,000,000 cash surplus in its treasury.

He intends to offer ways and means to pull the state out of its present difficulties, and to restore a healthy balance on the books of California.

BOOSTS SCOUT DRIVE

The Boy Scout drive for funds is bringing far-flung results. Not only have the sponsors of the drive been getting donations from Carmelites now in other states, but recently a substantial donation came from one in London immediately after he received word about the need for money to take care of additional activities that the local scouts have undertaken.

GIRLS IN INDIAN COSTUME
GIVE TOWN ADDED COLOR

The towns decorations are delightfully added to by the girls in the Indian section of "The Apostle of California" wearing costumes of the tribes they represent as daily dress. They are a brilliant and pretty show as they walk thru the streets on their accustomed errands or duties. A gorgeous bit of color.
